After receiving 35mm of rain last weekend, farm activities are in full swing. The dam is slowly rising, though rainfall this year has been lower compared to last year. We're keeping a close eye on water levels as the season progresses.

Welcome, Future Agripreneurs.

Students from St. Maria Goreth Agriculture Institute (our neighbors) will be joining us for a one-month field study, gaining hands-on experience in modern farming practices. We're excited to host and inspire the next generation of agricultural leaders

From Weekly to Monthly Newsletters , Bringing You More In-Depth Updates

Since 2021, FFF has been delivering weekly newsletters, and let's be honest, you've loved them ;) (or at least, that's what we tell ourselves). But after receiving feedback from the FFF Newsletter Feedback Survey last week, we heard you loud and clear: "We love the updates, but can we get a little breathing room?" So, as per your request, we're making the switch from weekly to monthly newsletters.

This isn't us ghosting you, it is far from it. This change allows us to bring you bigger, juicier updates with more depth, insights, and exciting stories (plus, we'll save your inbox from feeling like it's on a treadmill). But don't worry, FFF is still buzzing with activity. For your daily dose of farm life, success stories, and behind-the-scenes action, make sure to follow us on our social media.

See you in the first week of April, fully recharged and ready to spill the best FFF tea.
